

Lockboxes embedded in station geometry

X Rebirth coordinates system

The coordinates listed are relative to station origin and orientation. There is no way to use the coordinates to find the lockboxes directly. The coordinates saved with PrintScreen screenshots for the Albion Skunk position are relative to zone origin so are not useful.

The coordinates can be used to give a rough hint as to the position of the lockboxes. Open the zone map and select the station from the object list. The map will then centre on station origin and orientate appropriately. The coordinates can then be interpreted manually to restrict where it could be. Even by just using the sign of the coordinates it is on average possible to limit the search area to just 1/8 of the station.
